ANTIC AND PACIFIC RAILROAD. - We notice with surprise that the long-contemplated enterprise meeting the Atlantic and Pacific, by a railroad the Isthmus of Tehuantepee, has been absolutemenced. That is to say, as is stated by a New is paper, workmen have actually entered upon attraction of the wagon road, required by the of the Mexican grant as a preliminary to the d. We say we learn this with surprise, for ays, and rivalries and disappointments, and eatiens of various sorts, which have marked bile history of the project, had prepared us for h event. We sincerely hope it is true; and e work, so much desired, and so important to imercial world, and to us especially, in conwith our Pacific possessions, has been begun such circumstances that we may reasonably he final success.—Courier, Sept. 30.

Whom to visit—when to visit—how long to visit these would form the staple of a useful essay, if anybody would take the trouble to write it, and would write it cleverly. Some people visit nearly all the time, and so waste their own lives and their friends' tance; some rarely visit at all, and so deny themselves and their neighbors one of the greatest pleaselves and their neighbors one of the greatest plea-sures of social existence. Some people make their visits so short that they are not worth the trouble they cost; others stay so long that the visit becomes a "visitation"—like a fever or a famine. As use is always essential to excellence in any one only those who have a certain amount of practice know hew to visit well, whilst those who visit too much, sin in another way, and become bad visitors from impudence and carelessness. But we are writing the essay which we began by simply suggesting, and will only add, in conclusion, that all rules must vary more or less with the character of the visitor. As the old epigram
